PROTECTION OF RIGHTS AND HUMAN SUBJECTS

Sexual Harassment Policy (Approved February 2000)

The Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) oppose sexual harassment of any kind. Sexual harassment of students is a real and serious problem in education at all levels. It can affect any student, regardless of sex, race, or age. Sexual harassment can threaten a student's physical or emotional well-being, influence how well a student does in school, and make it difficult for a student to achieve his or her career goals. Moreover, sexual harassment is illegal – Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX) prohibits sex discrimination, including sexual harassment.

Title IX protects students from unlawful sexual harassment in all school programs or activities, whether they take place in the facilities of the school, on a school bus, at a class or training program sponsored by the school at another location, or elsewhere. Title IX protects both male and female students from sexual harassment, regardless of who the harasser is.

FCCLA activities are integral to local school instructional programs in vocational and technical education and are a responsibility of the state. Therefore the sexual harassment policies and procedures in effect in a student's home school or schools last attended are the means by which sexual harassment issues at FCCLA events will be addressed. Of course, FCCLA always reserves the right to respond to any disciplinary situation, as they deem appropriate and independent of any action by a school.

If a student feels they have been sexually harassed while participating in an FCCLA event or activity, they are strongly encouraged to report the incident immediately to: 1) the chapter adviser responsible for the FCCLA activities; 2) the student's home school principal; or 3) the State Adviser of FCCLA. Harassment issues reported to the FCCLA State Adviser will be referred to the student's adviser and home school administrator(s).

Iowa FCCLA State Officer Candidate Election Process Outline

[Iowa FCCLA By-Laws

Section 3. Election of the Officers

The state will be divided into four regions. The voting delegates from each affiliated chapter shall vote by ballot for their respective regional state officer. The voting delegates shall also vote by ballot for the at-large state officer candidates.

One regional state officer will be elected from each region and the next three candidates receiving the highest number of votes in each region will advance as at-large candidates for the remaining four state officer positions. The four regional candidates and the four at-large candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected and shall assume office at the close of the State Leadership Conference.

If a region has only one regional candidate for state office, that candidate will by default run as an at-large candidate for state office. If a region does not have a candidate for regional office, five at-large state officers shall be elected from the remaining at-large candidates.】

The Election Process for Iowa FCCLA State Officers is as follows:

1. Officer candidates complete a 30-point test on FCCLA knowledge and a 20-point writing portion. A central grading committee grades the test and writing portion. Results are revealed to the elected officers prior to the selection of offices.
2. All officer candidates deliver a two-minute speech and answer two impromptu questions and two FCCLA or Family and Consumer Sciences issue related questions to their respective regional delegates, unless a region has only one candidate. If a region has only one candidate, that candidate automatically moves directly to at-large elections. Regions with more than one candidate hold a vote following the speeches and questions at the regional meeting. A central ballot counting committee counts the votes. The candidate with the most votes is named the regional representative and serves as a state FCCLA officer.
3. All candidates that do not secure a position on the executive council as a regional officer, up to three with the highest vote counts from each region, move to at-large elections. At-large candidates deliver a two-minute speech to state delegates at a general session. Following the speeches, at-large candidates are given two new impromptu questions and two new FCCLA or Family or Consumer Sciences issue related questions.
4. Following the speeches and questions, eligible conference delegates cast their ballots for at-large candidates. Ballots are cast by delegates voting for the appropriate number of candidates based on the number of regionally elected officers. The number of votes per delegate equals eight minus elected regional candidates. For example, if three regional candidates are elected, five at-large officers will be eligible to receive votes. The candidates with the most votes join the regional representatives as state FCCLA officers.
5. If the ballot of officers does not exceed the number of positions available, the delegates will cast a “yes” or “no” vote for each candidate. Each candidate must receive 50% plus one of the eligible votes to qualify for state office.
6. The newly elected officer team meets and reviews the “State Officer Candidate Intent Forms.” The newly elected team self-elects its members to each office. Prior to each election, candidates state why they wish to serve in the position in 60 seconds or less. The order of elections proceeds as follows and is a sliding ballot. Only candidates who score in the top half* on the combined score of test and writing portion are eligible to run for president and first vice president.
 - a. President
 - b. First Vice President
 - c. Vice President of Records and Finance
 - d. Vice President of Public Relations
 - e. Vice President of Families First
 - f. Vice President of Financial Fitness
 - g. Vice President of Student Body
 - h. Vice President of Parliamentary Law

7. A central ballot counting committee counts ballots. If one candidate does not receive a majority (50% plus 1 vote), the two candidates with the highest number of votes stand for a re-vote. Test scores break all ties if only two candidates are running and the candidate with the highest test score receives the office in question.
